

DRAFT Agenda - Sep 14, 2026
2026 MARPA – TIRI PMA Parts Seminar
Subject to change

|                      |                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|----------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1:00 pm –1:05 pm | Welcome -                                                                           | Jason Dickstein - President, MARPA                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 1:05 pm –1:30 pm | An Introduction to PMA Parts and Acceptance Under the Japanese Bilateral Agreement  | Jason Dickstein - President, MARPA                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 1:30 pm -2:00 pm | How PMA Regulations Ensure Aviation Reliability and Safety                          | Doug Law- Aviation Safety;Aircraft Certification ServiceAIR-63A, FAA                                                                                                                                    |
| 2:00 pm -2:30 pm | PMA Parts on Aircraft Engines                                                       | Mike Zerbe - VP of Engineering,Chromalloy                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 2:30 pm –3:15 pm | The TIRI Overview and Practical Trends of Economic Security Promotion Act           | Yusuke Okude, TIRI                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 3:15pm –3:45pm   | Break                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 3:45 pm –4:15 pm | Reliability and Cost Savings Success Stories Panel                                  | Deidre Hawkins, American AirlinesYu Chin Teo – Jet Parts Engineering,Alex Garrett – R&D Dynamics, PowellSimbulan – NSL Aerospace, JasonBrown – Pexco (invited), Ed Vido –EVCO LLC (invited) |
| 4:15pm-4:45pm    | PMA Adoption in a Market Where Power-By-the-Hour and Exchange Programs are Maturing | Glen Edwardsen - Business DevelopmentDirector, Vogt AeroNils Wittmaack - Senior ManagerCorporate Procurement Consumables,Expendables & Alternates, LufthansaAirlines (invited)              |
| 4:45pm –5:15pm   | PMA Parts Design and Materials Utilization                                          | Pat Markham, VP of Technical Services,HEICO                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 5:15 pm –6:00 pm | PMA Parts Eligibility and End-of-Lease Practices                                    | Donny Douglas - PMA Lead Engineer,Delta Air LinesDeidre Hawkins - Senior Engineer; PMAPart Development Engineering,American Airlines                                                            |

*Thank you to our partners at the Tokyo Metropolitan Industrial Technology Research Institute (TIRI).
MARPA appreciates support provided by the U.S. International Trade Administration and event sponsors.*